The Arizona Education census data from 2010 indicates that nearly 80% of Arizona schools spend less than $1 per student on the materials and resources need to provide quality arts education in our schools.

How will you work to insure adequate dollars are budgeted to provide the tools and materials necessary to support standards-based arts education in the classroom?

The Arizona Legislature needs to be held accountable by all voters, especially when it comes to education. I have been working as a certified teacher since September of 1994; I am currently a middle school visual arts teacher in Phoenix, but I have taught other subjects as well. Through the years, I have witnessed the slimming down of the education budget, more and more each year.

Respect for the Arts requires a cultural shift so that a majority of our society values The Arts. After all, board members and legislators are voted in by The People. I frequently hear and read comments that prove many people don't regard the arts as important or valid: "How do you fail Art?" "Art grades don't count towards the incentives." Fortunately, in the district where I am a board member, we do not have a problem in this area because the Arts are valued.

Please take this opportunity to provide any additional comments about your views on arts education in our K-12 schools, or any other education issue you consider a priority as you seek a position on your district school board. (250-word limit)

I know that the arts provide a well-rounded education. The arts teach culture, tenacity, growth mindsets, creativity, empathy, persistence, problem solving, and so much more. The Arts open minds and allow students to express themselves creatively and appropriately while opening whole new worlds of understanding. They are an essential part of our society and culture.

It is important to remember that before he did anything else when invading a country, Hitler stole and/or destroyed art first. Even an evil individual such as himself saw Art as one of the most important parts of a culture/society. Art is a record of our existence, so its existence in school should be valued.
